Gang members are luring a growing number of girls into county lines dealing through exploitative romantic relationships, according to a report compiled by charity Hestia (2020)

The BTP County Lines Taskforce aims to protect and safeguard the children who are often used by gangs to move drugs and cash between import and export locations, which can be hundreds of miles apart.

Crime Minister Victoria Atkins said “Once they reach their destination, they (young people) stay in properties rented by gangs, increasingly short-term lets.”

Children travelling in taxis or private hire vehicles may be being exploited by gangs involved in drug crime.

Know the signs to spot.

County lines gangs use children to courier drugs and money across the country. Many of these children travel by taxis or private hire vehicles.

Have you seen:

- A child, sometimes as young as 12, travelling alone.
- Are they travelling during school hours or unusual hours during the morning, mid-afternoon?
- They might seem unfamiliar with the local area, or not have a local accent.
- Are they reading a long distance?
- Are they paying for these journeys?

If you see something that doesn't feel right, or looks suspicious, concerning a child or young person you should report it to Crime Stoppers on 0800 555 111.
